CHALLENGE

The Indigenous sector is under pressure and scrutiny by government and the public to improve outcomes, accountability and responsibility in the most challenging of environments, with limited resources.

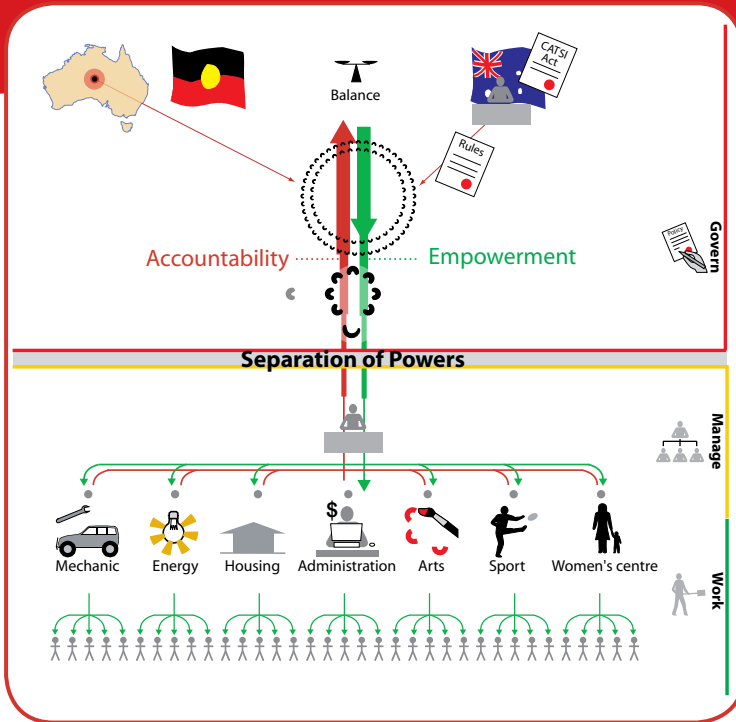

How do we achieve this so members, directors and management have a shared understanding of their roles and governance to enable them to work together to achieve their objectives and the optimum outcomes?

SUCCESS

The workshop process and EMPOWER tool kit align the board and management giving all a shared understanding of governance, management, their respective roles and responsibilities and the separation of powers.
